

C. S. LEWIS:

The Life and Works of a 'Mere Christian'

A study of the 20th century's preeminent Christian thinker and writer

Instructor: Dr. Jeffrey Breshears.

Time and Location:

- Mondays, August 19 to October 14, 7 PM
Abbott's Bar & Grill Restaurant (Johns Creek, GA)
6:15 (Dinner) and 7:00 (Lecture/Discussion)

Recommended Readings:

C. S. Lewis, Surprised by Joy (Harcourt, 1995)

Study Guide and Supplemental Readings:

Jeffrey D. Breshears, "C. S. Lewis: The Life and Works of a 'Mere Christian'." A study guide with additional course readings ($10).

Registration Fee: $50 or $90 per couple

Course synopsis: C. S. Lewis was one of the most influential Christians of the 20th century and a prolific author whose writings have impacted Christians across all denominational lines and traditions. In a poll taken by Christianity Today in 2000, Lewis was voted the most popular Christian author of the century, and Mere Christianity was chosen the greatest Christian book of the last hundred years. Furthermore, Lewis lived a fascinating life.

This course covers the major influences and events in Lewis' life, including...

- His lonely and turbulent childhood and military service in World War I;
- His early career as an atheist scholar and professor;
- His conversion to Christianity;
- His major works in Christian apologetics, science fiction, and children's literature;
- His involvement in "The Inklings" with J.R.R. Tolkien and others; and
- His relationship with Joy Davidman Gresham.

C. S. Lewis was no average Christian, but he was, to use his own term, a "mere Christian" – one whose life was devoted to the basic core beliefs and practices of the historic Christian faith. In that respect, he serves as a model for us all. As John R. W. Stott once noted, "C. S. Lewis was a Christ-centered, great-tradition mainstream Christian whose stature a generation after his death seems greater than anyone ever thought while he was alive, and whose Christian writings are now seen as having classic status."

The Instructor: Dr. Jeffrey Breshears is an historian, an author, a former university professor, and the founder and president of The Arcopagus, an Atlanta-based Christian education ministry that specializes in Christian history, apologetics, contemporary cultural issues, and literature and the arts.